ANOTHER ANGOLA!

Fearful Accident on the Erie Railroad—Thirty Killed and Fifty-four Wounded—Thirteen Passengers Burned in a Sleeping Car.

Early Wednesday morning a fearful accident occurred on the Erie Railroad, at Carr's Point, sixteen miles above Port Jervis, of which the telegraph (owing to a storm) gave us no account until Thursday. The following are the particulars which have reached us:

The train to which the accident occurred left Buffalo at twenty minutes past two o'clock Tuesday afternoon, in charge of Conductor Judd, and Charles Douglas, Superintendent of the Division, and consisted of an engine, tender, three sleeping, two first class and one second class, two baggage and one postal car. The train proceeded on time, making the usual stoppages, until evening, when the passengers in the sleeping cars retired for the night.

At three o'clock Wednesday morning Mr. Ames and Mr. Horton, of the General Postoffice in New York, who were in charge of the postal car, saw the bell rope straighten out and break in two, when Mr. Judd immediately remarked to one of the officers that "he had lost his rear cars." They ran to the platform of the car, when the four rear cars were seen rolling down a precipice from seventy-five to one hundred feet high.

The scene of the accident is thirteen miles beyond Port Jervis, on the Delaware division of the road. The road is cut in the side of the bluff, and the ledge on which the track runs is very narrow. The sides of the precipice are formed of jagged rock, and in the descent the cars were broken to pieces. At the bottom is a culvert through which flows a stream of water emptying into the Delaware.

The impression prevails that the disaster was caused by a broken rail, which threw the rear car from the track. This displaced the three cars immediately in front, and the connection breaking, the whole were precipitated down the embankment.

The cars in going over the embankment turned several times before the bottom was reached, and were nearly demolished. One sleeping car was entirely consumed by fire.

The passengers of the cars left standing on the track immediately began to rescue the wounded and remove the bodies of the killed. Many of the latter could not be recognized.

Seven persons were burned to death, and six others were killed by coming in contact with the jagged rocks, &c.

The wounded persons were placed on the train and brought to Port Jervis, which place was reached at nine o'clock Wednesday morning. Several surgeons were immediately summoned, and everything was done that could be to alleviate the sufferings of the injured.

The bodies of the persons killed were left on the ground. Among those wounded were two young ladies named Maggie and Emma Hoyt. They both received severe injuries in the breast. Their father and mother were instantly killed. They lived at Chenango Forks, New York.

Daniel P. Snow was also injured, and his wife and one of his children killed. Three children escaped with only slight injuries.

Mr. Horton, the postal agent, appeared at the New York Postoffice covered with blood, caused by assistance rendered in rescuing the wounded.

Among others injured were Mrs. G. B. Beardsley, of No. 453 Hudson street, New York; A. L. Oliver, of No. 70 West Fourteenth street, New York; George Furnace, of the Metropolitan Hotel, New York; and C. R. Moncrief, of No. 452 Hudson street, New York.

STATEMENT OF MR. G. B. HOLLENBACH.

Mr. G. Hollenbach, of Morris, Ill., left Cleveland Tuesday evening, and while in the first of the three sleeping cars, was awoke between three and four o'clock, A. M., by a violent jerk, with a concussion, and a subsequent rolling of the car down an embankment. On a cessation of the motion, screams of fright and pain arose from several women and children occupying the car, who had not held as tenaciously to their berths as the male passengers. Mr. H. received a few contusions, but was unconscious of them at the moment, and, in company with others, at once left the car and surveyed the scene. The car had rolled on an inclined plane down a bank, and stopped at a distance of a hundred feet from the road. Fearful shrieks arose from the centre and last sleeping cars. The former had fallen perpendicularly fifty feet from a culvert into the small stream below, and the latter had rolled similarly to his own car, but had caught fire from the cinders of the stove. Both were much shattered, and blows from the fragments, as the cars broke, contributed much towards the injuries sustained. Attention was immediately given towards extricating the sufferers, and the engine, baggage car, smoking car, and one other passenger car, went to Port Jervis, and, transferring passengers, baggage and mails to another train, immediately returned for the transportation of the wounded.

Mr. D. Lyons, one of the wounded, is an Alderman of the city of Binghamton.

The Division Superintendent of the Delaware Division of the Erie Railway was also among the wounded.

Mr. Fairman, senior partner of the Elmira Advertiser, was among the wounded. He was on his way to New York to attend a meeting of the State Associated Press.

The people at Port Jervis threw open their houses, and all the ladies in town rendered all the assistance in their powor.

STATEMENT OF MR. BLAKESLEY.

Mr. Blakesley, of Olean, New York, who was in one of the cars that went down the embankment, states: The train was the Cincinnati Express, due in New York at eight o'clock a. m. All four of the cars that went over the embankment were completely demolished, and I think twenty-five to thirty were killed outright. I saw five or six ladies taken from the ruins quite dead, and a number wounded. The rear car took fire from a stove a short time after the living persons were removed from it, and I should judge there were about seven bodies burned up. There were in addition three bodies taken out before the fire reached them. The car ahead of the one in which I was sleeping also took fire, but the flames were speedily extinguished. The catastrophe of course took place in the darkness of the night, and the confusion and terror was appalling, and the horror was greatly increased by the agonizing shrieks and groans of the wounded and dying.

FURTHER PARPICULARS.

NEW YORK, April 16.—E. B. Phillips, President of the Michigan Southern Railroad, and Charles M. Gray, General Freight Agent of the same road, were on the fatal Erie Railroad train yesterday, but escaped with severe bruises.

The unknown man killed was named Lauss, of Paris, France. Mrs. Snow, of Iowa, was killed.

The killed and most of the wounded are at the depot at Port Jervis, and half a dozen physicians are there from this city.

The engineer of the train says the accident occurred fourteen miles west of Port Jervis, at Carr's Point, a rugged bluff, along the side of which, one hundred and fifty feet above the Delaware, the track was excavated.

The theory is that a rail broke about four hundred feet west of Carr's Point, the engine and five cars passing over the fracture safely, the forward truck of the sixth car then got off, the coupling parting. This car was followed by the remaining three, which went on four hundred feet, when, coming in contact with some obstacle, it was thrown down the precipice, dragging the others with it to the river's edge. The train was going at the rate of twenty to twenty-five miles per hour.

The cars which escaped were three passenger cars, one postal car and one freight car. Those thrown over the cliff were all passenger cars- three sleeping cars. It was intensely dark. On reaching the foot of the bluff, two cars were found to be in the river, and one, the last car, on fire. There were over two hundred passengers in the seven cars.

A Port Jervis dispatch, late last night, says it is stated there that thirteen persons were consumed in the burning car. Six of the bodies were recovered last night. Among the wounded are Guernsey Lopham, editor of the Syracuse Courier: A. Sturtevant, of the Binghamton Standard: A. L. Oliver, from Cincinnati, James R. Heenan, of Louisville, and George Foye, a Frenchman.

C. C. Kyke, of Brooklyn, was coming from the West, in company with a young lady and child. The car he was in caught fire, but the young lady, by strenuous exertions, saved him. His legs are badly crushed, and he would have been burned to death without her aid.

STILL FURTHER DETAILS.

NEW YORK, April 16,—In the disaster on the Erie Railway an agent, named Albert E. Burbank, who was in the sleeping car, was thrown out, and as soon as he recovered from his consternation, he snatched up some clothing lying strewn around to shelter himself from the piercing air. In the pocket of a light overcoat he took up was a card of admission to the Chicago Exchange, and inside the coat itself was the name "W. B. Hancock, Cleveland, O.," a name which does not appear in the list of killed or wounded.

The deaths, at last accounts, number twenty-four. Six bodies are unrecognized. All the dead and nearly all the wounded remain at the place where the accident occurred.

Another Accident on the Erie Road.

A special despatch to the Tribune states that an accident took place on the Erie Railway this evening one mile from the place where the frightful disaster of Wednesday occurred. Thirteen cars attached to a freight train ran off the track in consequence of a broken rail, were thrown down an embankment and badly broken up.

FORTIETH CONGRESS.

The Impeachment—Evidence as to the President's Design to Test in the Courts the Constitutionality of the Tenure-of-Office Law.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, April 16, 1868.

SENATE.

Senator SUMNER offered a resolution to admit all evidence which may be offered.

On motion of Senator CONNESS the order was tabled—22 to 11.

Mr. Stanbery was not present, but

Mr. EVARTS said they would proceed as far as possible without him.

Walter S. Cox, of Georgetown, was called by the defence and asked when his connection with the case of Stanton vs Thomas commenced, and when and by whom and under what circumstances he was employed?

Mr. BUTLER objected, but

The CHIEF JUSTICE overruled the objection. Witness might answer the first part of the question.

The witness said he was sent for on the 22d of February, and went to the White House at five o'clock.

He was proceeding to state what the President said to him, when

Mr. BUTLER again objected and demanded that counsel put in writing what they expected to prove.

Counsel proposed to prove that the President employed Mr. Cox to procure a judicial decision by filing a quo warranto.

Mr. BUTLER argued that the President did not appear in the record of the case, and the writs should have been filed by the Attorney General.

Mr. EVARTS rejoined that if the President made the case his own, he could not appear in it, and the Attorney General approved the employment of Mr. Cox.

Mr. BUTLER argued at length that the doctrine was an estoppel.

Mr. CURTIS said that the remarks of Mr. Butler required no reply, and in answer to Senator Ferry, stated the counsel did not propose to disprove the record, but would show that the motion to discharge General Thomas was made only when his lawyers saw no hope of procuring a judicial decision on the act.

The argument was continued by Messrs. WILSON and EVARTS as to the admissibility of the evidence concerning the intent of the President.

The CHIEF JUSTICE ruled the evidence to show that the President employed lawyers to obtain a decision on the constitutionality of the Tenure-of-Office act was admissible, in support of the denial of the first article, in accordance with former votes of the Senate and with the principles of law and right.

The yeas and nays were called, which resulted twenty-nine to twenty-one.

The evidence was, therefore, admitted.

The witness resumed—The President told witness he desired to have proceedings instituted to test the act constitutionally, and wished him to consult with Mr. Stanbery, who had been too busy to look into the matter. He left General Thomas with the President and concluded it would be best to apply for a habeas corpus after General Thomas should be committed by the Criminal Court, which course Mr. Stanbery approved.

The question was asked and objected to, What did you do towards getting out a writ of habeas corpus by direction of the President?

Admitted—27 to 29.

Answer—Tried to have General Thomas committed to prison. Mr. Stanton's counsel applied for a postponement. Chief Justice Carter said he should be held in custody. Witness moved his discharge, expecting to force his committal, but the motion was granted.

The Senate refused to allow a statement to be made of the conversation with the President the same evening, and the counsel then asked,

After reporting this to the President, did you do any other acts in pursuance of his previous instructions to test the constitutionality of the Tenure-of-Office Act? If so, what were they?

Objected to, which the CHIEF JUSTICE overruled, and the Senate sustained his ruling—twenty-seven to twenty-three.

Witness resumed—The next day I applied to the District Attorney to sign an information in the nature of a quo warranto, which he declined to do without the authority of the Attorney General. Visited Stanton and he gave him his opinion [not allowed to be stated] and nothiug else was done in the matter.

Senate took a recess for fifteen minutes.

On reassembling at, 2:50, Mr. Cox was cross-examined by Mr. BUTLER. He considered himself as counsel for the President, but appeared before Judge Carter as counsel for General Thomas, and did not tell the Court, or opposing counsel in Court, that his purpose was to get the case in train to test the constitutionality of the Tenure-of-Office law, and supposes they devined the object.

Witness further testified he was advisory counsel for Gen. Thomas. The papers which he prepared to obtain a quo warranto were returned to him a few days ago by Mr. Stanbery, with a verbal message for him and Mr. Merrick to use them at their discretion. He had never received direct authority from the Attorney General or the President to use them. Gen. Thomas was discharged from custody, on motion of President's counsel.

R. T. Merrick, a lawyer of Washington, testified he was employed by Gen. Thomas on the morning of the 22d of February. After action of Judge Carter, in chambers, witness went to see the President and told him what had occurred in the case of Gen. Thomas, and Mr. Stanbery being present, the Attorney General, in presence of the President, told the witness to see if he could carry up the case to the Supreme Court on a writ of habeas corpus, and a few hours afterwards wrote the Attorney General a note on the subject. On Monday he communicated the result of his investigation to the President's counsel, Mr. Cox, and they agreed to work together in order to accomplish the purpose suggested by the Attorney General. Tuesday night had an interview with the Attorney General in relation to conducting the case next day.

Question objected to.

What did you and Cox do in order to accomplish the result referred to?

Held admissable by the CHIEF-JUSTICE and no appeal asked for.

Answer—All we did in Court on Wednesday morning was—(The witness commenced in detail to recount the circumstances already briefly narrated by Mr. Cox.)

Mr. BUTLER interrupted him to say he wished to clear his skirts of all this. Matter was going in against the objection of the Managers and under the ruling of the Chief-Justice.

Whereupon the CHIEF-JUSTICE rose and said it goes in by the decision of the Senate of the United States.

Witness resumed his minute narration and at the close of the cross-examination by Mr. Butler, testified that General Thomas was not at the White House when he arrived. Did not know whether he was at the War Department or not.

E. O. Perrin, of Long Island, was then called. Had been personally acquainted with the President about fourteen years. Was in this city during the month of February, in company with Mr. Seleye, member of Congress from New York. Had an interview with the President February 21st, about two P. M. Took Mr. Seleye to introduce him. Neither he nor Mr. Seleye had any knowledge of the removal of Mr. Stanton.

Counsel then offered to prove the President informed them he had removed Stanton and would send in to Senate a good name for the position; that he had not anticipated resistance, and regarded the arrangement as temporary.

Mr. BUTLER objected, and an argument ensued on both sides.

The question was ruled out by the Senate.

Mr. EVARTS had nothing more to ask in that view, and suggested an adjournment.

Mr. BUTLER opposed it in a long speech, after which Senate adjourned.

HOUSE.

The House immediately resolved itself into Committee of the Whole and proceeded to the Senate.

The SPEAKER gave notice that business would be transacted on the return of the House.

After the return of members from the Senate,

Mr. SPALDING introduced a bill to amend the act for the punishment of crimes against the United States, approved, 1790, so as to extend the time within whic heertain offences may be presented. Referred to Committee on revision of the laws.

Mr. JOHNSON introduced a bill granting lands in California in aid of the construction of railroads and telegraphs. Referred to Committee on Pacific Railroad.

Mr. CLARK, Kansas, offered a resolution, which was agreed to, requesting the Secretary of the Interior to suspend the sale of lands ceded to the United States by the Osage Indians.

The SPEAKER stated the pending question to be ordering the main question on the resolution to print forty thousand copies of Manager Butler's opening speech in the impeachment trial.

Mr. GARFIELD moved the resolution be referred to the Committee on Printing—yeas 60, nays 22, no quorum. Senate bill to defray the expenses of impeachment trial, and for other purposes, was received and referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

On a call of the House ninety-four members answered to their names, being, with the Speaker, within one of a quorum. Without further proceedings the House adjourned.

New York Legislature—Railroad Matters.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

ALBANY, April 16.—The New York City Central Underground Railroad bill passed the Assembly to-day.

The bill appropriating three thousand dollars per mile for each mile of the new railroad constructed was considered in Committee of the Whole. A motion to pass the bill to third reading was lost—51 to 63.

In the Senate the consideration of the Erie Railway was resumed. Mr. Pierce's amendment, refusing the assent of two-thirds of the stockholders to ratify any action of the company for the extension of the broad guage route, was lost—12 to 14. The question recurred on the second amendment, offered by Mr. Chapman, to legalize the guarantee by the Erie company of bonds or coupons of any other railway necessary to the formation of a continuous line between Chicago and New York, the same to apply to future contracts. Only two Senators opposed the motion, but no definite action was taken.

A Foreign View of Impeachment.

An eminent American embassador at one of the great courts of Europe, writes to a friend at Washington, that there is much speculation in the diplomatic world respecting the impeachment of the President. It is argued that the President is the executor of the laws, and he is bound to obey as well as enforce them. Diplomatists hold that the head of the Republic as well as its humblest citizen is responsible for violations of law and that if the offenses charged against him are proved he has committed a constitutional crime for which he must suffer the penalty prescribed by the Constitution. It is said all around that is desirable for the welfare of the people of Europe that its sovereigns should be held to a like responsibility for their acts. Whichever way the impeachment terminates it will increase the respect entertained for the United States in Europe. Should the President be acquitted, it will be said that justice has triumphed because of the want of proof. Should he be convicted it will be said that the charges were proved, and on the facts he was proved guilty of a violation of constitutional obligations. This trial will have a tendency to excite public opinion in Europe to the necessity of a personal responsibility by monarchs for the acts of the executive branch of the governments. It will be another of those great historical acts of the United States which exert a world wide influence for the benefit of humanity and the cause of popular liberty. The foregoing is a literal transcript of the Foreign Ministers' communication on this subject.—Washington Letter.

A Delicate Position All Round.

The Jeffersonville reporter of the Louisville Democrat tells of a very good looking woman, who applied to a well known lawyer of that city yesterday, to know whose wife she was. This was beyond the legal talent of the attorney, as he did not know the circumstance, but he was soon enlightened in relation to it, in this wise; The lady said her first husband went to the wars, and some time afterwards she learned that he was dead. After wearing the widow's weeds for a considerable length of time, she married again, and for four years has been enjoying the marital relations with her second spouse. Last night, as she was passing along the street, some one tapped her upon the shoulder, and addressed her with "How are you, purty?" She did not recognize the individual, but it was needless to say that it was husband No. 1. Explanations followed, and and matters left for further consideration. Both husbands claim her, and the woman is in rather an awkward fix. She is inclined toward the first husband, and husband No. 2 wants her to fly with him to some more congenial clime, at least, where no dead husbands make their ghost-like appearance to interrupt his connubial bliss.

If a dozen Englishmen meet together they begin to talk at once about submarine telegraphy, or taxation, or cotton, or the possibility of tanning mouse skins, something, that is to say, of material interest; assemble a dozen Germans, and immediately you have before you Schleswig-Holstein and the unity of Germany; among a dozen Frenchmen, however much they may endeavor to avoid the subject, you are certain to hear a discussion about "le beau sexe;" wherever a dozen Russians are met together the question immediately arises of the worth and future of Russia.

RAILWAY STOCKS.

Stocks were feverish and panicky during he forenoon. New York Central was sel-ing as low as 110¼, Erie 65¼, and Toledo 7¼. After morning call there was an im-roved feeling, and stocks were freely bid or on thirty days, buyers' option, at about ne per cent. over regular prices. The narket was firmer in the afternoon upon a umor that Vanderbilt and Drew have come o an understanding, and though stocks were still feverish, they closed steady at a narked improvement on the lowest prices f the day. The decline has caused many weak parties to throw their stocks over-oard. The market is much lower than or a long time, and will probably induce purchases by capitalists.

RIVER NEWS.

Both rivers continue to recede steadily at this point, with ten feet in the Monongahela, and ten feen six inches in the Allegheny. The weather yesterday was warm and sultry, and at times there were indications of more rain. An Oil City telegram reports six feet and rising, weather indicating rain.

The McCullough, from Parkersburg, and the Robt. Moore, from Portsmouth, were the only arrivals, and the McCullough was the only departure. The St. Charles was due last evening, and the Lorena, from St. Louis, will doubtless be found in port this morning.

The Bayard, Captain Shepard, with Mr. A. S. Bunting in the office, is the regular packet for Parkersburg to-day, leaving promptly at noon.

A telegram yesterday announced the sinking of the Carrie, fifty miles below Sioux City, and both boat and cargo, valued at $30,000, are reported a total loss. She was owned by Capt. W. J. Kountz and H. K. Haslett, of this city, and she left here some three weeks since for Fort Benton. It is said that Capt. Kountz had his interest insured in Pittsburgh offices for $7,000.

The Echo cleared for Oil City last evening, and the Ida Rees No. 2 is due here from there to-day. The Rees will return as usual on Saturday.

Passengers and shippers should bear in mind that the palatial St. Charles, Captain C. A. Dravo, with Capt. Andy Robinson in the office, leaves for Cincinnati to-day, being the regular Friday packet. Here is an excellent opportunity for any one desiring to visit the Queen City; also, for shippers desiring to have their goods put through in a hurry.

The Maggie Hays, Capt. Martin, is filling up steadily for St. Louis and the Upper Mississippi, as is also the Importer, Captain Williams, for St. Louis and Fort Benton. The Importer is announced to leave this evening. The Silver Lake, Capt. Todd, is also announced for Fort Benton forthwith.

The Maggie Hays and barges, Captain Campbell, is filling up steadily for Saint Louis, and will soon be ready to take her departure.

The following towboats were reported as having left yesterday:

	Barges.	Bushels.
Thomas Rees	7	70,000
Sam Roberts	6	60,000
Fred Wilson	7	70,000
Whale	7	70,000
Coal Valley	7	70,000
Total	34	340,000

The Kate Robinson left Cincinnati for Louisville on Tuesday, and the New York was advertised to leave there for Pittsburgh on Wednesday.

The Vicksburg Times, of the 10th, has the following in regard to the Robert E. Lee:

"The great steamboat race is over, and the excitement and anxiety naturally attendant upon such an occasion has all died out. The 'Champion of the Waters' rests as quietly and gracefully at the landing, with her 'horns,' the emblem of victory, still adorning her pilot house, seemingly as unconcerned as if she had not accomplished the great performance which was announced in our yesterday's edition.

The Herald of the same date says: The Belle Lee got here so late Wednesday night that we were unable to make any reference to her run in our issue of yesterday. She arrived here at five minutes of one, being ever thirty hours out from New Orleans. We have so many versions given us of the run that we hardly know what conclusion to form of it. One party represented her doctor out of order, and a number of buckets off one of her wheels; while the other stated that Captain McGill, finding that his boat was unable to cope with the speed of his great rival, sought the bank as a pretext for disarrangement of machinery, as an excuse often resorted to by the vanquished.

A St. Louis telegram, dated at noon on Tuesday, says; We had the heaviest rains anp the wildest storm of the season throughout last. Proposals are invited for the transportation of 32 tuns of grain to Fort Sulley, 87 tuns to Fort Rice, and 562 tuns to Fort Thompson. Rates of freight aed passage from Upper Mississippi points to St. Louis are greatly reduced by competition, The Omaha packet Stonewall arrived here yesterday with 600 tuns of freight. The Andy Ackley left this morning for Benton, with near 200 tuns.

Another dated at 7 p. m., has the following: Arrived—Phil. Sheridan, from St. Paul; Stonewall, from, Omaha; Julia, from Vicksburg; Silver Cloud, from Dubuque, Departed—Kate Putnam, for Pittsburgh. River stationary here, but falling on the rapids, and rising at Lubuque. Cloudy and warmer. The Kate Putnam took 200 tuns ore, and 100 tuns pig metal, 100 bbls sand and 100 tuns fire clay.

BURNING OF THE STEAMER SOUTHERNER —The New Orleans Times of Saturday says: At three o'clock yesterday the after-cabin of the steamboat Southerner, lying on the Allegheny side of the river, nearly opposite the Bull's Head, was discovered to be on fire. The flames spread with great rapidity from stern to stem as to render it difficult for those on beard to escape. Mr. Vincent Tabb, the owner, was in the city at the time of the fire. He, with his family, were living on board. The Southerner was registered from Helena, Arkansas, her owner's residence, and had been engaged in the Memphis trade, making occasional trips to Louisville. At the time of the disaster she was in the custody of the United States Marshal. The steamer is a total loss. She was insured for $18,000, but the policy was vitiated by seizure. Mrs. Tabb escaped forward. The chambermaid slid down into the river on a rope thrown from the guards; she was picked up by one of the crew of the steamer Choctaw. The steamer Emma No. 2 escaped by the fortunate arrival of the tug Ella Wood, that towed her off. The Choctaw also narrowly escaped the flames. Mr. Seymour, the assignee of the crew, loses considerably by the disaster.

The fire next caught the General Ransom formerly used as Government ferryboat, but purchased, we understand, a few days since, by a gentleman from Cincinnati. Her cabin was destroyed and the hull pretty badly scorched, but she is still afloat. An alarm was given from the corner of Canal street and the Levee, but none of the engines from the city crossed the river.

GOLD closed in New York yesterday at 138⅛.

ARKANSAS has elected her U. S. Senators, who may be expected to present themselves at Washington before another week comes in.

DEMOCRACY in Illinois formally resolves, through its State Convention, that legal tenders are lawful money. Time was, and not long ago, when they styled the same paper "Linkin rags!"

THE Pittsburgh Post declines to accede to the recent proposition, of certain intriguers of its party, to bring forward General HANCOCK as a Presidential candidate. Our neighbor insists that the General has no strength in the delegation from this State and cannot get a single vote, Mr. PENDLETON being decidedly the choice of the Pennsylvania Democracy. Undoubtedly, the Post has the probabilities on its side, the nomination of Mr. PENDLETON being regarded in many well-informed quarters as inevitable.

THE PACIFIC RAILWAY is completed to the crest of the Black Hills, the dividing summit of the Rocky Mountains and the construction trains are descending toward the Salt Lake Valley. In advance of the track, one hundred miles are graded, ready for the iron, an ample supply of which is at hand ready for use. The year 1868 will close upon twelve hundred miles completed and in operation, leaving but six hundred and forty-miles of a gap in the communication, and reducing the time to ten days between the shores of the two oceans which embrace the continent. The entire road is to be finished next year, and then the citizens of New York will be enabled, by this railway and the steamers on the Pacific, to reach the remotest part of the Antipodes in less than twenty-five days, an average of but little more than half the time consumed in the voyage from New York to Liverpool prior to the introduction of ocean steam navigation. Then, our most distant Pacific States will be practically nearer to the Federal Capital than was South Carolina in the palmiest days of its great statesman, Mr. CALHOUN.

WHATEVER LATITUDE the Senate may be disposed to allow to Mr. JOHNSON'S counsel, in the introduction of proof of his declarations made so nearly to the date of his contemplated removal of Mr. STANTON as to be fairly considered as a part of the res gestæ, they have also very properly refused to admit, as testimony, his verbal or official statements made two or three days after. Opinions differ as to the propriety of the decision to receive even the statements and conversations of the President which approximate to the former class, and which were, it may be justly supposed, designed by anticipation for a defense of his acts. But the Senate is evidently disposed to grant to the accused every facility for his defense, which may not be too marked a departure from the plain rules of evidence. For this liberality, the Senate should not be condemned. With a result so certain as that which will close this great trial in a few days more, it will be very satisfactory to reflect that no plausible pretext has been left for complaint on the part of the convicted offender. If the jurist or the historian, however, should comment upon the remarkable indecision with which the Senate has alternately disposed of the same question of evidence in two or three different ways, their criticisms would be technically just, without impairing the deserved respect which future generations must entertain for the conspicuous impartiality of the tribunal.

BECAUSE a half dozen Republican Senators change their votes, with every shift of the wind, from one day to another, upon either side of the questions which incidentally arise in the trial, the President, his advisers and his Democratic friends feel justified in the claim that some, if not all, of these apparently unstable Republicans may be relied upon to vote for his acquittal. They even go so far as to assert that GRIMES, FOWLER, Ross and VAN WINKLE are surely to be counted on, and that he only needs two more votes to acquit him, and that there are six "Conservative" Senators from among whom he is confident of getting them. We have always supposed that, of the Senators above named, two may be ready to betray their trust by consenting to the release of this incomparable offender, provided their votes would accomplish that end. But the insinuations, even, of such a treachery against the other two gentlemen named, or against any of the remaining thirty-eight Senators, is a slander as baseless as it is insulting. Of the twenty-nine Republicans who, on the 21st of February, voted that the President had no authority in law for his attempted removal of Mr. STANTON, but one man's vote is under the slightest suspicion upon the final issue of impeachment. Of the twelve Republican Senators, who, absent, did not vote upon the same resolution, eleven would have sustained the resolution if present, and will sustain it now in the impeachment of the usurper. The solitary Republican (Mr. EDMUNDS) who voted against that resolution, has voted steadily with his party throughout this trial. Can any sensible and honest man believe that these Senators, or any of them, with the two exceptions which are becoming conspicuous, will now vote to remit the Constitutional penalty for an act which they have thus solemnly declared to be illegal?

THE LAST RAILWAY SLAUGHTER.

The afternoon press of this city on Wednesday made mention of a terrible disaster on the Erie Railway, but were unable to supply any particulars. Nor did any allusion to the occurrence of such a disaster, appear in the despatches of that night to the Associated Press. Yet a calamity of fearfully shocking magnitude had actually occurred on that railway, at a very early hour of Wednesday morning and at a point but five hours' ride from New York, and within direct telegraphic communication with that city.

By the breaking of a rail, four cars of a heavily loaded passenger train, including three sleeping cars, were precipitated down an embankment of seventy-five feet, one of them indeed being thrown fifty feet of sheer fall, and the others rolling over and over down the slope. To add to the horrors of a calamity by which some eighty persons were killed and wounded, one of the wrecked cars took fire, and sixteen persons, many of them perhaps alive, were consumed in the flames.

The fearful holocaust of last winter at Angola is almost equalled by this later wholesale murder. Official mismanagement and neglect have reaped another great harvest of death. How long shall such fatal wickedness, in disregarding the safety of human life, be permitted to go unpunished?

LAW-MAKING BY PUNCTUATION.

A portion of the Pennsylvania press are commenting upon a recent statement made by a Representative, a few days since, in his place, at Harrisburg, that the Registry Law, as adopted by the Senate, contained but three sections, and yet appears in print divided into twenty-one sections. One journal remarks:

> Whether this division effected nothing more than a separation, without interference with the language of the act, was not stated, but it would be scarcely possible to divide three sections into twenty-one without making some additions to render the language grammatical, or by striking out words. The sense might not be affected by such changes, but it would be a very perilous thing to allow persons who are under no responsibility to tamper with the laws and to alter them according to their own taste and judgment.

The Registry Law, as re-printed in the GAZETTE the day after its final passage, was an exact copy of the bill, in sections and their numbers, as transmitted to us from our entirely reliable correspondent at the Capitol. And it was also verbally and literally a faithful transcript. The punctuation of the bill, from first to last, was, however, entirely our own, it being, we understand, the custom of our Legislature to remit this responsible duty to the enrolling clerk, and the printers. We submit that the legal significance of statutes is in many cases controlled by the division of sentences, and that the most capable and faithful clerks may frequently mistake the connections of phraseology, and thus entail upon a statute constructions never intended by its authors, or contemplated in the discussions of either House. No bill should pass the last formalities attending its enactment into a law, without being complete in its punctuation as well as in the language which that punctuation controls. Nothing would then remain to the discretion, the carelessness or the incapacity of enrolling clerks or printers except the mere mechanical duty of transcription. The statement as to the Registry Law to which we have above referred, was doubtless based upon this loose and reprehensible practice in our legislation, and the objections now made in many quarters plainly show that it is time that the practice should be reformed or abandoned.

IN the annexed paragraph, from the Philadelphia Press, a tribute no more than just is paid to the faithful labors of the State Legislature which has just adjourned:

It may be said of the body that at least in the earlier days of the session they addressed themselves more directly to business than have some of their predecessors. What may have been done toward the end of the session that might better have been left undone, must no doubt be attributed to the haste incident to adjournment, rather than to any other purpose. Many of the leading enactments of the session will bear a candid criticism. Those of minor moment have been more closely scrutinized than formerly, and as a consequence fewer local and private speculations have been allowed to culminate. The bearing of the members has been more dignified than usual, and they seem to have been more thoroughly imbued with a proper sense of their mission, than is customary in State legislators. But little has been done to estrange the people or invite censure, while much has been accomplished that will no doubt tend to restore the confidence that is too charily extended toward our Legislative bodies.

THE Cleveland Leader, speaking of the flashy pictorial newspapers which are sent out over the country by Boston publishers, makes the annexed statement:

Scarcely a week ago the matron of a young ladies' seminary had occasion to suspect the existence of clandestine reading among the pupils, and instituting a search, found not less than sixty copies of those indecent weeklies in the desks and rooms of as many young ladies, whose parents supposed their daughters safe from every corrupting influence.

COLLEGES—POPULAR EDUCATION.

LA FAYETTE COLLEGE, located at Easton, in Northampton county, in this Commonwealth, has contended with adverse circumstances for many years, but at last seems to have entered upon an era of prosperity. Through the liberality of Mr. A. PARDEE, of Hazleton, of Mr. JOHN A. BROWN, Mr. WM. ADAMSON, and Mr. B. H. JENKS, of Philadelphia, of Mr. J. H. SCRANTON, of Scranton, of Mr. THOMAS BEAVER, of Danville, and of other gentlemen of kindred spirit, its endowment has been increased by the aggregate sum of many hundred thousand dollars. Its Faculty has been enlarged, so that it now numbers sixteen Professors and two Tutors, while the Curriculum of studies has been extended so as to embrace, not simply the old classical course, but, also, a parallel scientific course, which includes all the studies of the classical, except Greek and Latin, for which the philological study of modern languages, and especially of English, is substituted. Besides these two courses for undergraduates, embracing the ordinary period of four years, there is a third course designed for those who wish to pursue studies essentially practical. This third course is divided into three departments—1. Engineering; 2. Mining and Metallurgy; 3. Practical Chemistry.

These changes are in conformity with the requirements of the age. Anterior to what may be called the modern practical development, there was a period when most of the real learning of the world was confined to the Greek and Latin classics and Mathematics. Who ever then aspired to the distinction or advantages of superior mental training was compelled to accept it in the only form in which it was attainable. Since those days astrology has blossomed into astronomy, and alchevey into chemistry. Mathematics has received new and surprising applications in practical affairs. Whole series of sciences have been organized, and laid under contribution, not only for the intellectual enlightenment, but for the physical comfort of mankind. Several of the modern languages, even so far as æsthetics are concerned, altogether surpass the richest of the ancient tongues, while in whatever relates to the utilizing of material resources and to the progress and comfort of human beings they are immeasurably of greater consequence. A man may now know nothing of Greek or Latin, and yet be learned in all that it is most desirable for an individual to comprehend. Nor do we make this generalization with a view to disparage the graces of literary culture, but simply as implying that in the beauty of poetry, the charms and power of oratory, and in the philosophy of history, the moderns have equalled, if not surpassed the ancients, while in the regions of science and the applications thereof to the daily wants and interests of mankind, the men of the later times incontestibly bear the palm.

It is noticeable, moreover, that the changes to which we have referred, though they encountered much opposition when first proposed, have vindicated their fruitfulness to such a degree as to compel consideration and elicit approval. The managers of all the larger seminaries had the conviction forced upon them that the institutions over which they respectively presided were not fulfilling the requirements of the age; that the individuals who were actually propelling the world most beneficently were not indebted to schools, technically so-called, for the development of their powers, but had obtained it in the rough and tumble of life; and that if colleges would regain the pre-eminence they once enjoyed they must abandon or at least enlarge the course of studies of the middle ages, and minister fully to the necessities of modern culture and practical pursuits.

Perhaps it may be said in extenuation of the short-comings of colleges, that the advantages they hold out, whatever they may be, fall not ordinarily to those persons who, by reason of natural gifts, are best able to turn them to account, but to those upon whose parents Fortune has lavished the most money. Many a gem of intellect has been constrained to get its polishing, as best it could, through contact and competition with the world. Not a few whose lustre has been, or is, of the first magnitude, might have been spoiled had they been subjected to that tenderer treatment which a superfluity of pecuniary means would have induced. Hard brushing was requisite to get off the rubbish and bring out all their latent glories.

Nor can it be doubted that quite too many colleges have been started in the United States. It is hardly an exaggeration to say that as many schools, known by this appellation, exist among us, as in all Europe. Every large town, certainly, ought to have a University or Seminary of learning of the higher grade. But this distinction is aspired to by hundreds of even the smaller towns. The result is more colleges, so called, than can possibly be endowed, in a manner suiting their professed rank, for a thousand years. At least two-thirds of these institutions ought not to have been started. It would have been vastly better, instead of seeking to lay new foundations, to have strengthened the old ones; instead of creating immature and sickly establishments, to impart fresh vitality and vigor to such as had taken deep root, and to put their future beyond all probable contingencies.

And here it may not be amiss to submit a few reflections upon the proper relation of the State to the higher institutions of learning. Doubtless it is the duty, as well as the policy, of government to ensure to every child born or living under it a good primary education. Schools are cheaper than jails or penitentiaries; and what is properly expended on the former is at least twice saved on the latter. But, how much education is government fairly bound to afford? This is a question that has not been as well considered as it ought to be. What the public purse supplies in the way of education, ought to be what the masses of the tax-payers can share in using; no less, no more. Now, it is manifest that a large majority of young people cannot spare the time to go to college. Physical wants press upon them, and they must apply themselves to earning bread. They cannot give two years to special preparation, followed by four years devoted to the collegiate course. Nor would the most of them find opportunity to put so much learning to practical account. "First that which is physical and afterwards that which is spiritual." The infant has need to suck before it learns the alphabet; and all through the lives of most men and women the material gets the upper-hand of the mental and spiritual. The body is clamorous, and will be pampered even at the expense of the soul. Here and there individuals are found who have risen superior to this species of thraldom; and these are either philosophers or saints. As yet, these are very thinly scattered through the nations. Computing at the rate of progress heretofore observed, it will be many ages before a whole nation will belong to these superior classes. It must be held that any system of education, supported by public funds, should conform to the public needs.

Hence, we conclude that at the common expense only the elementary branches of learning ought at present, or for a long period to come, to be taught. These are Reading, Writing and Ciphering; the chief tools in all systems of education. Who ever has mastered these so that they are a pleasant possession to him has little need to complain; for all the rest is in his own power. Having these, he can, if he will, go farther, at his pleasure. These keys unlock the doors of the Temple of Knowledge and let him in, with authority to go into whatever departments he elects. So much for the true idea of popular education. We do not see that it requires more.

THE DEMOCRATIC THIMBLE-RIG.

BELMONT and the bond-barons have adopted the old prairie tactics in Illinois, with distinguished success. They have set a back fire against PENDLETON and the repudiators, which will decidedly check the sweeping career of the Cincinnati candidate and his policy through the Western States. The Illinois Democracy, in State Convention on Wednesday, took decided ground in favor of paying the public debt in the mode required by the national honor. Declaring also that this debt may be paid in greenbacks, except where the law provides otherwise, it will be seen that PENDLETON and his financial fallacies are adroitly condemned. That gentleman would commit his party unreservedly to the doctrine that the largest existing class of our National debt, the Five-Twenty bonds, are absolutely liable to greenback redemption. He recognizes no ifs, nor ands, nor exceptions in that particular; he holds all these securities to be protected by no law whatever requiring a metallic redemption. The wise reservation of the Illinois Democracy discards such an unsound view, and recognizes the just operation of existing legal provisions. On that platform, the bond-holding Democracy of the Atlantic States can support any candidate who will occupy it. And upon that platform they coolly place Mr. PENDLETON himself. Now we submit that all this means one of two things; either that the candidate thus named is to be slaughtered upon a platform which his consistency forbids him to accept, or that, for the sake of the nomination at New York in July, he is himself reconsidering his opinions and surrendering to the bondholders on a vital point. If he accepts that platform, it will be an abandonment of the peculiar views with which he has been identified; if he rejects the proposition, his game is entirely up as the Democratic Presidential candidate.

THE Philadelphia Ledger institutes a comparison between the trades in whale and retroleum oils, and comments upon the diverse policy of Federal legislation affecting the interests of each. The whale oil trade of the whole country employs a tonnage of 74,594 tons, which, in the last two years, has collected 243,687 barrels of oil, valued at $11,816,370. On the other hand, the receipts of petroleum at Philadelphia alone in the one year of 1867, were 743,898 barrels, with a value of $11,833,825, and the proportion thereof shipped employed a tonnage nearly one half greater than the entire whale oil trade of two years. The Ledger thereupon remarks:

The oil trade of Pennsylvania may therefore be set down as a considerably more important national interest than the whale trade, and in every way as meritorious an object of national pride, and as deserving an object of national encouragement and support. But it does not seem to be so regarded at Washington, for instead of classing it with other highly important and useful national industries as a fit subject for relief from heavy taxation, an invidious and unjust discrimination has been made against it by singling it out for continuance under the old burdens.

Central Pacific Railroad.

The Grand Continental Pacific Railroad is fast hastening towards completion, and in 1870 we are promised a through line from New York to San Francisco—time six days. From present indications a double track will soon be necessary, and thenceforward the business of the road will fully tax its capacity.

The Central Pacific Railroad Company, in order to make all possible progress, are offering their First Mortgage Bonds at par and back interest. These Bonds are the first lien upon this valuable property, and are backed by an equal amount of Government money invested in the enterprise, and are becoming more prominent among standard investments. The advertisement in another column explains the foundation and merits of these securities.

VACANT DIPLOMATIC OFFICES.—There is an unusual number of diplomatic offices vacant at present, which it may fall to the lot of Mr. Wade to fill. Among the most important of these are the Austrian Mission, to which it is suggested to re-appoint J. Lothrop Motley; the Russian Mission, resigned by Cassius M. Clay; the Missions to Mexico, Buenos Ayres, Bolivia, Equador, United States of Colombia and Hayti. In addition to these the Missions to Great Britain, Spain, Portugal and Chili, it is said, will certainly be vacant on a change of administration.

—A Little Rock (Arkansas) dispatch, dated 16th, says: P. T. Rice and A. M. McDonald have been elected United States Senators by a vote of seventy to twenty-eight. Rice for the long term.

How Smugglers are Detected.

The New York correspondent of the Boston Journal writes:

Mr. Schenck, the Government auctioneer of this city, sold yesterday a large quantity of valuable goods recently taken from the persons of travelers returned from Europe. Watches, rings, diamonds, chains and bracelets, were among the goods sold. It is easy to see how such valuables can be secreted. Forty bags of coffee were brought on shore, and evidently could not have been put in any one's pocket. A thousand boxes of cigars, and silver foil enough to guild Broadway. This matter of smuggling is reduced to a science, but is watched by the keenest of detectives when they choose to be keen. The searches are made very rigidly, and silks and satins no longer pass the Custom House free because run into breadths. As a punishment the clothes in which diamond and laces are sewed up are taken off of the wearer and sold under the hammer.

VALUABLE PHOTOGRAPH.

The other day Marshal Murray went to the Postoffice and took a letter directed to a gentleman in this city. He took it to his office and addressed a note to that gentleman, requesting him to call at a certain hour named. He came. The Marshal handed him the letter and the gentleman put it in his pocket, as it was addressed to him. "I would like to have you open that letter," the Marshal said. The man demurred; he preferred to open it at home. Finding that resistance was useless, the envelope was reluctantly broken. It held nothing but a photograph, and quite an ordinary one at that. There was not a scrap of writing in the envelope, nor any intimation from whence the photograph came. The only thing about it which attracted attention was its thickness. It was stout and firm, unnecessarily so for transmission through the mails. After examining it carefully the Marshal took his knife and separated the parts. In the center was ingeniously inserted a thin layer of the finest kind of velvet cork. The cork was studded with diamonds, about seventy in number. The Marshal placed the photograph in his safe and the gentleman retired.

SHREWD HIDING PLACE.

The other day a gentleman stepped ashore from one of the Cunarders, and as soon as he landed an officer from the Marshal's office asked him to accompany him to a carriage. Not a word was spoken by the insulted citizen, whose trunks were taken possession of by the revenue officers. The gruff official whistled a low tune, and drummed on the window pane of the coach, as it passed up Broadway. On reaching the Marshal's office the indignant gentleman demanded the cause of the rude treatment he had received. The Marshal politely asked him to take off his right boot, which he did with some hesitation. The heel was struck off, and it was found to be hollow, and in it snugly and carefully stowed away were diamonds to the value of $8,000. Cattle, it is said, cannot get used to the speed of locomotives. Before they get ready to move it is too late. Rogues and smuggles have not yet got used to the Atlantic cable. Still, cart loads of coffee and like material cannot be smuggled ashore without the connivance of officers. After all, the extent of smuggling is perfectly enormous.

English Postal Laws.

Notwithstanding the objections to the performance by Government agency of work that can be left to private enterprise, there are some attractive features in the English plan of postal telegrams under the management of the Government. The object is to render the telegraph more generally available for the transmission of news, and to adapt it to the popular wants. Great objections are urged against the English telegraph system, that apply with only too much force to the American telegraph system. The charges are excessive and capricious. No due regard is paid to the public convenience, and there are many places to which the telegraph lines do not extend. It is proposed to remedy these defects by placing all the telegraph lines in the kingdom at the disposal of the Government, with a view to uniform rates, that will bring the telegraph within the reach of all classes, and ultimately modify the delivery on the Post Office. Mr. Disrach has given notice of a bill for this purpose in Parliament, and the measure meets with general approval.

We are not yet in receipt of the details of the plan. But enough is known of its outlines to afford a general idea of the changes involved. It is proposed to purchase all existing telegraph lines at a fair valuation, and to work them in connection with the Postoffice Department. New lines of telegraph will be constructed, and ultimately every Postoffice in England will be in telegraphic communication with each other, through various central receiving depots. It is proposed to charge one shilling (English) for messages not exceeding twenty words, to any part of the kingdom, and sixpence for each additional ten words. These telegrams will be received and transmitted through the Postoffice, and by special messengers at places within the town delivery of the terminal offices. In cases of special messengers, outside the line of delivery, six pence a mile (going and returning) will be charged. The English system of postal delivery in towns is so perfect, that few persons will desire to avail themselves of special messengers, as the ordinary delivery of telegrams by post will answer most purposes. Every postoffice will be a telegraph office, and the system will also be brought into requisition for the payment of money orders.

This plan has been already adopted in Belgium and Switzerland, and has proved most successful. It is likely to work well in England. Its introduction in the United States is probably only a question of time.

AN exchange says:

No kind of traveling ought to be so safe as that by railroad. In many foreign nations no kind is so safe. In Germany such a thing as an "accident" is unknown; in Switzerland the same; and in France but a few happen in the conrse of a year. Travelers get into the cars with as strong a sense of security as they would go into their own parlors. But in this country, in so confined an area as the state of New Jersey, a hundred and twenty-five persons are injured in a year, and seventy-five of these are killed.

The reasons for the difference are simply these: In the first place, that our roads are most insufficiently manned and most carelessly managed; and, in the second place, that when one of these terrible homicides occurs, there is no law, no execution of law, fixing the responsibility of the blame on the guilty parties. The number of brakemen, guardmen and other officials is too small; rails and running gear are allowed to remain till they break; excessive speed is often put on by engineers to make up temporary delays; while the directors and officers of the company are more intent upon speculating in the value of their shares than upon promoting the security and comfort of passengers. These men are made trustees by the public of the most valuable privileges, and the manner in which they discharge their functions is better known in Wall street than it is anywhere along the line of their roads. In other words, they simply neglect and abuse their trusts, and the consequence is a yearly hecatomb of victims.

A Swedish Bride.

With us a bride is a pyramid of gauzy, airy white lace, flowers, tissue, all of spotless white. A Swedish bride is quite another matter. In a land so near the region of snow, white seems to be eschewed, and the bride comes forth in a dark blue cloth dress, fitting tight to the bust, body and skirt both trimmed with black velvet. In guise of buttons down the front are leaf-shaped buckles of gold or silver, spreading wider than the brass ones that used to adorn cloaks. As she moves, these rattle gayly above her black silk apron. But her head dress, how describe it? A perfect Cheops pyramid of artificial flowers towers half a yard above her head. A white collar alone looks bridal.

And the wedding or Borrullup. A traveler thus describes one he stumbled upon:

"The dancing was nearly over, and, giving his arm to a bridesmaid, he struck up a lively conversation, he rattling off English with a very slight sprinkling of Swedish, and she as glibly replying in her own tongue pure. This was better than the supper, which was stupid, all the people standing, and with long intervals between hot courses of strong food, well enough for noon, but not just the thing for midnight. Several speeches were made and healths proposed. After a time the bride and groom presented themselves at a window to display themselves to a crowd, which had, according to custom, gathered to see the bride: and she was worth looking at, I certainly thought, so I give the sketch."

THE TALLEST CHIMNEY IN THE WORLD is said to be that at the Port Dundas Works, Glasgow, Scotland. Its height from the foundation is 468 feet; above ground, 454 feet, the foundation being 14 feet deep; the outside diameter, on a level with the ground is 34 feet, at the top, 12 feet 8 inches, thickness at the ground, 7 bricks, at the top 1 and 1-2 bricks; the internal diameter at the base is 20 feet, which gradually contracts at the top to 10 feet 4 inches diameter. There are no other human structures in the world higher than this chimney but the steeple of the Strasburg Cathedral, which is 466 feet above the ground, and that of St. Stephen's Church, in Vienna, which is 465 feet high.

The most wonderful part of the story of this lofty chimney is, that, having been twisted out of the vertical line to the extent of 7 feet 9 inches, by a violent wind, before the mortar was hardened, human skill has reduced it to a perfect perpendicular again. The mortar was sawed out on the windward side, so as to allow the chimney to settle sufficiently to restore the perpendicular.

—The Illinois Democratic State Convention met at Springfield on Wednesday and nominated a ticket, as follows: J. R. Eden, formerly member of Congress from the Eighth District, for Governor; W. H. Van Eppo, of Lee county, for Lieutenant Governor; W. W. O'Brien, of Peoria, for Congressman at large; Robert E. Williams, of McLean county, for Attorney General. The resolutions adopted congratulate the country on the improved state of public sentiment, as shown by the late elections; denounce Congress for its financial and reconstruction policy, and for arranging taxes so that the burden falls upon labor and industry; favors the payment of the national debt so that the national honor may be preserved; that legal tenders are lawful money, and the debt should be paid therewith, except when the law provides otherwise; also demand the abolition of National banks, and that their issues be replaced with greenbacks; favor the protection of naturalized citizens; and declare for George H. Pendleton for President.

—The store-house of the State Constabulary at Springfield, Mass., containing several thousand gallons of confiscated liquor, was broken open Tuesday night and a large portion of the contents removed. The liquor had been accumulating for a couple of years, and was under the charge of Deputy Constable Samuel Chapin, who shot Brooks in the Westfield riot last fall. A valuable horse of Constable Billings was poisoned at Westfield Tuesday night.

BEWARE

Of that remorseless and insidious destroyer of the human race,

CONSUMPTION.

Check and conquer its advances, lest you fall the victim. When attacked with any of its preliminary symptoms, no matter how slight, be on your guard and promptly use the remedy ere too late.

DR. SARGENT'S COUGH SYRUP

Is an old, well tried, certain and standard remedy for Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Croup, Difficulty of Breathing, Pain or Oppression in the Chest or Lungs, and all Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs. Its sure and certain efficacy has been fully tested and endorsed for many years by numbers of well-known citizens in our midst, and their certificates are on record. Have you a cough which has gradually increased from a slight one to one of permanent standing? Lose no time, but procure a bottle of DR. SARGENT'S COUGH SYRUP, which will surely relieve you of the dangerous premonitory symptoms and effect a permanent cure. Do you spend miserable days and long sleepless nights of torture and pain from attacks of Asthma or Difficulty of Breathing? Dr. SARGENT'S Cough Syrup will act promptly, relieve you, and gradually restore you to your freedom of pain, and sound, pleasant sleep. Are your lungs sore and irritated, indicating inflammation? This is one of the most dangerous symptoms, and should be promptly removed. Dr. SARGENT'S Cough Syrup will heal the soreness, allay the inflammation, and restore the lungs to their prestine health and vigor. This Cough Syrup is pleasant and agreeable to take, while powerful and sure in its action. For sale by all Druggists in the country.

A MISERABLE SHAKER

Is the victim to Fever and Ague. This tedious and enervating disease is, unfortunately, too well known to need a description. It is strictly a malarious disease, caused by exhalations from the soil, especially from marshes, swamps and newly cleared lands encumbered with decomposing vegetable matter. The chills is one of the most troublesome of maladies, as the patient, though he may not be confined to his bed, is incapable of action. The experience of years has demonstrated the fact that HOSTETTER'S BITTERS is a sure means of fortifying the system against all atmospheric poison, breaking up the paroxysms and rapidly restoring the strength. Quinine, which has so long been the great remedy for chills, has been superceded by this powerful and harmless agent; while as a preventive it is unequalled, as its use will certainly exempt all who may live in unhealthy localities from the ravages of this disease. HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is now among the most popular, and, at the same time, valuable specifics in the medical world. In recommending it to the public, we are fully conscious of doing them a great service, knowing, as we do, their many excellent qualities, and sure and speedy action in all cases where the disease is caused by irregularity of the digestive organs. As a tonic it is both mild and agreeable to the taste, and stimulating in its action upon the system.

ANOTHER CURE OF DEAFNESS.

I lost my hearing during the last year. Part of the time I was totally deaf. In April of this year I was induced, from an advertisement, to make application to DR. KEYSER, 120 Penn street, Pittsburgh. After having tried various medicines from doctors, without any benefit, I have been under Dr. Keyser's treatment now for nearly two months, and am entirely restored to my hearing, so that I can hear a pin drop. ANOTHER CURE.

A man called to-day at Dr. Keyser's office to inform him of a great cure made by his LUNG CURE, or PULMONARY RESTORATIVE. list these cures are made with the Doctor's preparations, he desires it to be distinctly understood that most of his great cures are made in accordance with the established laws that govern the science of medicine, in which he has been engaged for the past twenty-five years. Last week he was also in receipt of a letter from a clergyman in the State of Ohio, detailing another most wonderful cure.

Lightning Rods

Munson's Copper Tubular Lightning Rod,

WITH

SPIRAL FLANGES,

Has been erected on thousands of buildings in all parts of the United States, and in a test of ten years no instance of their inefficiency has occurred. This Rod has received the First Premiums at the Fairs of nearly all the States, and every place it was ever exhibited. It has been endorsed by over five hundred Professors in Colleges, and other scientific men, as the best Rod ever invented, possessing all the elements necessary to protect buildings from lightning. It is made of copper, because this is the best metallic conductor, except silver, and does not rust. Its spiral flanges and rough edges dissipate electricity and double its conducting power. Electricity uses only the surface, never the heart of a metal. One flange of this Rod being open, the inside surface is available as well as the outside; altogether, its power surpasses twenty common iron rods or a solid copper rod an inch and a half thick, and has the additional advantage that it is continuous, and can never become disjointed or otherwise get out of order, but will endure as long as the building stands on which it is erected. Our points are made on the most approved method, and our Insulators are unsurpassed.

No holes are made in slate or tin roofs.

Our customers will have the benefit of our new Insulator, patented in 1867. The price is thirty cents per foot, and three dollars for each top; this includes the cost of putting the rod on buildings—there are no extra charges of any kind. Within the past few years we have erected this rod on many churches and other public edifices in Pittsburgh and vicinity, and upon thousands of dwellings and barns. For the superior character of this rod we are permitted to refer to Rev. I. C. Pershing, D. D., President Pittsburgh Female College; Philotus Dean, Esq., Professor Natural Sciences, Pittsburgh High School; Geo. Woods, LL. D., Pres't. Western University of Pennsylvania.

Thankful for the liberal orders of past years, we solicit a continuation of public patronage.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, THURSDAY, April 16, 1868.

In New York the money market has been very stringent, but is now working a little easier. The very lowest terms for call loans upon choice collaterals has been 7 per cent., but the rate is decreasing, Prime business paper is discounted at from seven to ten per cent. but the offerings are still in excess of the supply. General business in New York is in an unsettled condition. The railway share market is losing some of its excitement. The uncertainty prevailing regarding the issue of the Erie legislation at Albany has stopped for the present the movements in Central and Erie.

—The Philadelphia Ledger, of Wednesday, says: The money market has ruled much the same yesterday as on the previous day. There is a fair inquiry, but the demand on call was met at 7 per cent., with occasional transactions in large lines at a slight concession on this rate. Best commercial paper rules at 7 to 9 per cent. discount, and though there is demand for all the money that is offering at these rates, there is no urgency. At New York the money market is quoted active, and while this is the case at a point so near, there is not likely to be any material relaxation from present rates in this market. The Philadelphia banks are in an easy condition and able and willing to accommodate their customers to nearly or quite the amounts desired. This freedom on the part of the banks lightens the pressure on the street very materially.

—The Chicago Tribune, of Wednesday, reports the money market in that city as follows:

Most of the banks—particularly those engaged in the produce trade—reported an active temporary demand for money today, to bridge over until Thursday, in consequence of the large deliveries of property on seller's option for the first half of the month. The grain shippers were again very busy; some eighteen vessels were chartered—all under the "old bill"—and the demand for money from this source was quite active. A large number of time bills are being drawn against these shipments, and this tends to make the market closer—and more so than ordinary, as there is no let up to the stringency which has characterized Wall street for the last three or four weeks.

CENTRAL LIVE-STOCK MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, THURSDAY, April 16, 1868.

CATTLE.

The cattle market at these yards has again been very dull during the past week, the transactions in the aggregate, being very light. There has not, so far as we could learn, been a single eastern buyer in attendance, and indeed, there were but very few here from any place; and it is equally true that there are but very few cattle offering, the great proportion being through shipments to Philadelphia and New York. Scott & Martin had a small drove of good Ohio steers (from Pickaway county) on sale, but there was no one here even to look at them, and as a consequence, they, too, were shipped East, although sent to this market to be sold. There is some little inquiry for stock cattle, but stockgrowers in this part of the country are scarcely willing to pay what this class of stock costs in the west, and as a consequence, there is little or nothing doing even in stockers. It is not likely that there will be any improvement here until the middle of May or first of June, about which time grass cattle will commence to be shipped in, and even then, we do not expect to see that life and activity in the trade with which it is usually characterized at that season of the year, as cattle are scarce and holders, as a general thing, can hold them over until fall, provided they cannot get what they think they ought to have.

Holmes, Lafferty & Glass sold 18 head of good stockers to Bruce & Co. at 6½; 20 head of good butchers cattle for Doud to Young at 8¾; 3 bulls to W. Hines at 6 and $10 off; 6 head stockers to Crouse, Emerick & Co. at 6¾; 12 head for Campbell to Webb at 5,65; 11 head for Steel to Hines at 6.

SHEEP.

The arrivals of Sheep have been quite large during the past week, larger than for some time previous, and as a consequence, the market was not as spirited as it was last week, although good fat Sheep still command very fair prices. Compared with last week, however, prices are off from ¼ to ½ a cent per pound; there was but a single sale effected at 8c, and we doubt whether the same bunch of Sheep would have brought that figure to-day; as will be seen by reference to the report of sales, prices ranged all the way from 4¼ to 8 cts, the inside figure being for a bunch of very inferior clipped, while the outside was for a very fine drove of fat wooled Sheep. The difference made between clipped and wooled Sheep ranges from one to two cents per lb, as to quality and condition.

Holmes, Lafferty & Glass sold 189 head for Doud to R. Cristler at 7; 210 for Logan to Pearce at 5⅝; 192 for same to same at 7⅜ 189 for Doud to A. Deitrich at 6¾; 378 for Logan to Deitrich at 6½; 185 for Doud to Pearce at 7¼; 190 for Logan to Pidcock & Co. at 7,15; 235 for same to same at 6½; 189 for same to Pearce at 7¼; 189 for Doud to Kase at 7¼; 187 for Logan to Kase at 7.

Smith & Talmage sold 178 head for Brooks to Pidcock & Co. at 6,15; 271 for Brainard to same at 7; 90 for Myers to Aull & Myers at 6.

Hedges & Taylor sold 177 head for Bell to Holcomb & Hill at 7; 79 for Lucas to Pearce at 7¾; 177 for Keenan to Pearce at 7¾.

Scott & Martin sold 80 head of prime Pickaway county, Ohio, wooled Sheep to Lloyd, averaging 95 lbs, at 8.

Pidcock & Co. bought 551 head from Snyder at 7,70; 430 from Bradfield at 6,37.

Loyd bought 214 head from Fairall & Co. at 4¼ (clipped;) 150 from Newton & Neff at 7,35; 297 from Myers & Needy at 6,40; 28 from Patridge at 7; 185 from Carnes at 7,10; 182 from same seller at 7¼; 87 from Quick at 6,25; 51 from Deitrich at 6¾; 157 from Brainard at 6.

Deitrich & Bro. bought 411 head from Moore at—; 173 from B. Johnston at 6¾; 174 from Campbell at 6¼; 61 from Russell at —; 150 from Young at 7.

E. L. Kase bought 336 from Ruff at 7; 154 from Haskett at 6¾; 171 from Zeager at 6,62; 83 from Haskett at 6¾; 211 from Patridge at —.

HOGS.

With a steady demand and continued light receipts, the market for Hogs continues firm, and prices are well sustained, ranging all the way from 8 to 10¾, for inferior to extra heavy fat Hogs, and these may be regarded as the extremes of the market.

Holmes, Lafferty & Glass sold 111 for O. Quick to Singer & Imhoff at 10,30; 111 for same to Pidcock & Co. at 8,55; 118 for R. B. Long to Pidcock & Co. at 8,75.

Hedges & Taylor sold 165 for Middleworth & Co. to Singer & Imhoff at 10,10; 20 for same to E. Smith at 8¼; 75 for Lucas to Keyes at 9¾; 72 for Foos and Wilson to Singer & Imhoff at 9,50; 74 for same to E. Smith at 8,15; 59 for Studemyer to Imhoff & Co. at 8,50; 26 for same to E. Smith at 9,50.

Messenger, Gillett & Co. bought 152 from Mitchell at 8,85; 124 from Morgan at 3,91; 24 from Steel at 8; 172 from W. Knicks at $8,60—$6 off; 74 for Rony at 8; 135 for Fox at $8,75—$5 off; 250 from Conklin at 8,75. Sold 112 to Crouse, Emerick & Co. at 10,30; 117 to Singer & Imhoff at 10,30; 59 to C. M. Keyes at 10,25 181 to Keys at 10,25; 17 to E. Young at 10.

Scott & Martin sold 111 head to Crouse, Emerick & Co., prime fat Hogs, averaging 315, at 10,75; 80 to same buyers, averaging 250, at 10¼.

C. M. Keys bought 104 from Harper, averaging 220 lbs, at 10,25; 111 from E. Smith at 10,25; 129 from W. P. Orr at 9¾.

Singer & Imhoff bought 138 from Messenger, Gillett & Co. at 9,50; 84 from Voter at 10,75; 112 from same seller at 9,75.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, THURSDAY, April 16, 1868.

There are no new features in the general markets worthy of special notice. We can report a steady demand for most of the leading commodities, and with a fair volume of business, in the aggregate, prices are well sustained, though without quotable change.

APPLES—Are in steady demand, and scarce, with regular sales at $3 to $6 per bbl, as to quality.

POTATOES—Firm, and in good demand, with an upward tendency; we continue to quote Peach Blows at $3,75, and Buckeyes at $4,00 to $4,50. Jersey Sweets, $7 to $7,50.

DRIED FRUIT—Peaches are firm and in good local demand at 11½ to 12c. The market is completely glutted with Apples, and prices cannot be quoted above at 7 to 7½.

GRAIN—Winter Wheat is quiet and unchanged; sales of No. 1 Spring at $2,40. Oats firm but unchanged; sales on wharf and track at 78 to 79c, and the usual advance for small lots in store. Ear Corn is scarce and the demand is better; we now quote at $1 to $1,05. Rye is firm at $1,75 to $1,80. Sales of Barley at $2,50.

BUTTER—Is steady and in limited supply; common to prime Roll is quoted at 40 to 45c, and prime choice do at 48 to 52c.

EGGS—There was rather more inquiry to-day, and we heard of several round lots having sold on eastern account at 20c, while on the other hand, some dealers reported sales at 18 to 20c.

SEEDS—Cloverseed is dull and nominal at $7 to $7,25. Timothy is quiet at $2,75. Flaxseed is in demand at $2.50 to $2,55.

PROVISIONS—Bacon is firm and unchanged; we continue to quote at 14c for Shoulders; 16 to 18c for Ribbed and Clear Sides, and 18¾ to 19c for Plain and 19¾ to 20c for Canvassed Sugar Cured Hams. Lard, 18c in tierces, and 18½c, in kegs. Mess Pork, $27,50 to $28.

HAY—Baled Hay is selling on wharf at $20 to $25, for common to strictly prime Timothy. Loose Hay is selling from country wagons at $25 to $28.

MILL FEED—Is firm but unchanged; sales on wharf at $1,80 for Bran, and $2,25 for Middlings.

LARD OIL—Keeps up well with Lard, and the market may be quoted firm at $1,15 for No. 2, and $1,40 for No. 1.

HOMINY—$6,25 to $6,50 per bbl.

BEANS—$4,50 to $5 per bushel.

FLOUR—The market is firmer, though, as yet, there is no material improvement in the demand, and prices are not quotably higher. We continue to quote at $10,50 to $10,75 for good Spring Wheat; $11 to $11,25 for choice do; $11,75 to $12,50 for Winter Wheat; and $14 to $16 for St. Louis fancy brands. Rye Flour, $9,25 to $9,50.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, THURSDAY, April 16, 1868.

CRUDE—The market is devoid of any new features worthy of notice. There is some little inquiry, and some few offers to sell, but there appears to be a difference of about a quarter between buyers and sellers, and, as a consequence, transactions are light. We have but a single sale to report, 2,000 bbls for April delivery at 8¾c. Immediate delivery may be quoted at 8½ to 8¾c. The inside figure offered, and the outside figure asked, and, as already intimated, neither buyer nor seller seem disposed to give way. For forward deliveries, there is little or nothing doing, and priaes are nominally unchanged. Oil City, $3,05 to $3,10 on cars; Oileoplis, $2,95.

REFINED—But a single sale reported, 1000 bbls for last half of September at 29c. September, October and November could have been sold in "lines" at 28½c, and all the year, buyer's option, is nominal at 31c. One thing that tends to retard business is the absence of most of the leading operators who are in Philadelphia, having been called there as witnesses in the famous O'Connor and Tack case.

ARRIVALS—The following are the arrivals of oil:

McAdams & Co..2000	Mawhinney & E.1500
Mawhinny & Co.2400	Fisher & Bro...15,000
Cochran & Co....4939	D. M. Edgerton.3500

Total.....29,339

St. Louis Market.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

ST. LOUIS, April 16.—Tobacco is unchanged. Cotton nominal. Flour—medium grades are scarce and wanted; superfines range at $7a8,25; XX at $9,50a11; XXX and fancy at $11,25a14,50. Wheat is steady and firm with liberal offerings at $2,66a2,75 for prime to choice winter; spring is more active and a few fancy lots brought $2,20a2,23, but the range of Nos. 2 and 1 was $2,05a2,15. Corn heavy and unchanged at 86a90c for fancy white. Oats dull ank prices scarcely maintained at 69a71c for fancy white. Barley quiet; small sales prime spring at $2,65. Rye higher, at $1,70. Pork dull and nominal, at $26,75a27,00, with retail sales at outside rate. Bacon dull and drooping, at 13a 14c for shoulders, 16½c for clear rib, 17a 17¼c for clear sides, and 20c for sugar cured hams. Bulk meats quiet; no sales reported. Lard; no prime lots offering; buyers at 17c for choice. Whisky higher, at $2,15 for choice. Cattle firm at $8a8½ for common to good, and 8¼a9 for choice per head. Receipts—flour, 3,300 bbls; wheat, 15,000 bush; corn, 9,200 bush; oats, 28,000 bush; barley, 1,500 bush; rye, 500 bush.

THE O'CONNOR TACK CASE.

Court of Quarter Sessions—Hon. F. Carrol Brewster, Associate Justice.

The O'Connor-Tack case which attracts so much attention in business circles in this city came up for trial in Philadelphia, on Tuesday. We purpose publishing a full report of the proceedings as furnished us by the sworn reporter of the Philadelphia Court of Quarter Sessions. Here is the first day's proceedings:

The trial of Augustus H. Tack, Theodore E. Tack, Frank Tack, Emil Schalk, and John Grierson, charged with conspiracy, having been fixed for yesterday, a jury was called.

The following are the counsel in the cause: R. P. White, Esq., General C. H. T. Collis, Thomas Marshall, Esq., of Pittsburgh, John O'Byrne, Esq., and District Attorney Mann for the Commonwealth.

The following appear for the defense: Henry S. Hagert, Esq., J. V. McDonough, Esq., General F. H. Collier, and M. Swartzwelder, Esq., of Pittsburgh; Dennis W. O'Brien, Esq., and Lewis C. Cassidy, Esq.

The case was opened by Mr. White, but as we purpose to give the evidence rather fully, we omit the speech.

The names of the witnesses for the Commonwealth—130 in number—were called, embracing merchants, clergymen, physicians, brokers, &c,

Several telegraph operators appeared with Theodore Cuyler, Esq., counsel for the telegraph companies, and submitted the telegraphic dispatches which passed between the Tack Brothers and others, as they were commanded to do by the process of the Court.

Judge Brewster directed that the counsel from Pittsburgh, who appeared in the case, be sworn, and the usual oath was administered to each of the gentlemen.

The Court then took a recess, and re-assembled at three o'clock.

The following witnesses for the Commonwealth were examined:

JAMES O'CONNOR'S TESTIMONY.

James O'Connor sworn—My home is at Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania; I reside at No. 299 Penn street; I am a married man and have eight children; I have lived in Pittsburgh since 1849; I know Augustus H. Tack, Theodore E. Tack, Frank Tack; have a slight acquaintance with Emil Schalk, but don't know John Grierson personally; I believe the gentleman near me is him; Augustus Tack lived in Philadelphia, and Theodore and Frank in Pittsburgh at the time of the difficulty; Emil Schalk was, at the commencement, a resident of Pittsburgh; Mr. Grierson is, as far as I am advised, a resident of Philadelphia; the circumstances originated in June, 1867; I came here on the seventh of June, 1867, to attend business with Mr. Cassidy, which was placed in his hands by the Messrs. Tacks as agents of the Keystone Refining Company, in which I had an interest; the claim was for $1,000; I went to Augustus Tack's office and arranged to meet him at Mr. Cassidy's office; at the time that this thing commenced Augustus told me that oil was falling and would be still lower, and his firm were very largely "short" in oil; "short" is a term used to designate that you have sold or agreed to deliver at a future day more oil than you really have; the term "long" is the reverse of "short"; I knew the market price about that time to be 24 cents for spot oil, which oil is delivered at that moment; the price of oil to be delivered ahead was two or three cents higher, say 26, 27 or 28 cents; Augustus also told me that there was a surplus of oil in the market, and short contracts were profitable and would still prove more so; he referred to the friendly feeling existing between his brother Theodore and myself, and said he regretted that the firm of Tack Bros. had purchased of Mr. Finney 2,500 barrels of oil deliverable in July and August, as Finney would lose $5,000 and that they (the Tacks) had become the sellers of that oil; he said the only way for me to do was to act as he had done, and go short on oil, and on my return to Pittsburgh to see his brother Theodore, as there was no time to be lost, and the quicker I sold the larger the margin of profit; I went to Pittsburgh and saw Theodore, and he and Mr. Finney and myself discussed things fully over; Theodore corroborated all that Augustus said, and urged me strongly to the same thing; he urged me to authorize him to sell, which I did, agreeing to give him 1½ per cent. commission for selling; he gave his views in detail, and said he would be careful and sell to good parties, and the quicker he could effect sales the better; he pledged himself to take care of my interests; he also said to Mr. Finney that he must repose confidence in him, as I knew him intimately and did so; I had implicit confidence in him at that time, as our relations were of the most intimate personal character, and we were great friends; these friendly relations had existed for one and a half or two years and he was very often at my house; he asked to have the matters fully in his hands, and he would protect both Mr. Finney and myself; that day he made a sale of 3,000 bbls to Emil Schalk; on the next day he called and told me that Mr. Schalk was perfectly good and he had signed and executed the contract, signing my name so as to close the contract; I was asked to get up new contracts, which I did, and I presume he destroyed the others; the next day he sold 3,000 more barrels to Emil Schalk; I was to pay commission to Tack, Brother & Co.; I knew Augustus was a partner, as he told me so, and I dealt with Theodore, another partner; from the 10th or 11th of June to the latter part of June, 1867, I saw Theodore every day, and had constant interviews with him; we met several times a day and talked the matter over while riding out; he said I was in the same boat with him and that his interests were mine; I have here contracts made on the 6th of June for 6,000 barrels of oil; three were made and three substituted for them, and then afterwards made in this shape, and here they are, six of them; the next transaction was a sale to Witeman & Anderson, June 15, of 500 barrels at 26½ cents delivered at buyer's option during the year 1867; buyer's option means that the buyer has the option of calling for it any time during the year on 15 day's notice; the next is June 15, to Witeman & Anderson, 500 barrels at 26½ cents, at buyer's option: next is an Eastern contract made by wire, which means by telegraphic dispatches, effected by Augustus Tack through the order of Theodore Tack, for 500 barrels at 23 cents, Simmons & Gildemastea, of New York, buyers, at buyer's option, deliverable during August, at ten day's notice; the next is January 11, 1,000 barrels, sold and divided into two contracts of 500 barrels each, Simmons & Gildemaster, buyers, at 24 cents; the next is June 25, J. C. Kirkpatrick & Co., buyers, 500 barrels at 24 cents, deliverable in October; the next is June 15, J. C. Kirkpatrick & Co., buyers, at 24 cents, deliverable in the month of July; the next is June 15, J. C. Kirkpatrick & Co. buyers, 500 barrels at 24 cents, deliverable in August; the next is June 15, J. C. Kirkpatrick & Co. buyers, 500 barrels at 24 cents, deliverable in September; the next is June 18, for 1,000 barrels, at 23½c, deliverable in September, the National Refining and Storing Company purchaser; the next is June 18, for 1,000 barrels, at 23 cents, the National Refining and Storing Company buyers, deliverable in August; the next is June 19, for 250 barrels, at 24¼ cents, deliverable to Bunker Bros. in July; the next are duplicates of above, deliverable in August, September, October, November, and December, making 1,500 barrels; Theodore Tack said that Brewer, Burke & Co. had sold 1,500 barrels the same as I had; the next was three contracts for 500 barrels each, dated June 25, Joseph Kirkpatrick and James Lyons purchasers, and the next, July 2, M. and P. Vidette purchasers, of 1,000 at 27 cents; this made 16,000 barrels oil negotiated by Tack & Bros., and the commission of 1½ per cent. on it would amount to $3,000; Frank Tack advised the last contract; in the latter part of June, Theodore told me he was going to Philadelphia, as it was the time for monthly settlements; he also said he desired to give his personal attention to this whole matter, as my contracts were the same as his own, and all were interested alike; he intended to take with him $20,000 in United States bonds, which he had in the Exchange National Bank of Pittsburgh, so as to use it in case of a margin being required, and thereby protect his interest, and would advise me fully; he wrote me on the 3d of July, the letter reaching me on the 5th, in which he said that Logan was doing his best to corner the market, but he thought it was bursted, as the calls he expected from New York had not come, and he breathed freer; he denied the rumor of the Tacks and Bunker trying to corner the market, and explained the sale he had made of 1,000 barrels; on the morning of the 5th I was going down Fifth street, in Pittsburgh, and met Guthrie, the clerk of the Tacks, who said, to my astonishment, that oil was thirty cents, and he was going to call in all he could; I went to Frank Tack, told him what Guthrie said, and he informed me that Guthrie was a fool, and I must not believe all that was told me; he would telegraph to Philadelphia and see what the matter was; he told me not to be worried, as what oil brokers said was not always reliable, and to go home and keep cool; the next day Frank came to me with a telegraph dispatch, and said the fuss in Philadelphia was owing to seizures of large quantities of refined petroleum by General Cummings, the collector of internal revenue, and said his brother was going to Washinfiton to see the thing rectified, and get Cummings removed from office; the next time I met Frank he told me Augustus had been to Washington and got the matter straightened out; after I received the letter on the 5th oil did not go down; I remained in Pittsburgh and met Frank as I was going into church; he showed me a letter from Augustus saying, tell O'Connor the contracts are all right, and he will make money, as we have a surplus over of several thousand barrels to loan friends; he said Theodore was home, but very tired, and unless I insisted, he would not meet me on that Sunday, but would meet me at Mr. Finney's office the next day, and he did.

The hour of adjournment having arrived, Judge Brewster informed the jury that this case would probably take a week, and he cautioned them not to speak of it, or permit any one else to do so. The Court at 5 P. M. adjourned.

How to Preserve Frost-Crystals.

We find in Galignani the following interesting account of a curious discovery, recently made by M. Augusta Bertsch, and turned to practical account by M. Kuhlmann, the celebrated chemist. Who is there that has not, during cold winters, stopped to admire the beautifully symmetrical and yet fantastic figures of leaves and flowers depicted on the window-panes of a well-heated room, the air of which is charged with aqueous particles? M. Bertsch has found that epsom salts (sulphate of magnesia) dissolved in beer, together with a small quantity of dextrine (artificial gum), and in this state applied to a pane of glass with a sponge or brush, will, on crystalizing, produce the identical designs above alluded to, hitherto considered peculiar to water; with this improvement, however, that the liquid may receive any color whatever at the option of the operator.

The ephemeral productions of frost may thus be easily perpetuated; but Mr. Kuhlmann, on being apprised of the fact, conceived the idea of going a step further, and transferring those fairy-like creations to stuffs and paper. For this purpose he first got the crystalization on sheets of iron, on which he afterwards laid one of lead. By means of a powerful hydraulic press, the minutest details of the figures in question were durably imprinted on the soft metal, and a copy of them in relief was then obtained by galvanoplastics. But here another difficulty arose. In the impression of cotton stuffs the pattern must be continuous; whereas in Mr. Kuhlmann's plates the lines at one end would not clearly coincide with those at the other, so that disagreeable interruptions would be caused in the printed designs. This obstacle, however, has been overcome in a most ingenious manner by effecting the crystalization on the cylindrical surface of a roller. A slight rotary motion imparted to it will prevent the liquid from accumulating at any particular point before it has evaporated.

Car Heater and Moderator,

For SMOKE AND HOT AIR FLUES, dispensing with the use of Stoves and Fires in or about the Passenger or Baggage Cars, with the attachment to graduate the heat to any temperature that may be desired without the possibility of firing the car or cars to which the Jacket may be attached.

Having obtained of the United States Letters Patent for a Safety Jacket which is warranted to resist the most intense heat that may be applied to it in the position and purpose for which it is intended. It is a sure protection from accidents by fire, originating from defective flues, or where iron pipes are used as conductors for smoke or heat. It is applicable to all piping that may become overheated, and is warranted to give perfect satisfaction where wood or other combustible material may be placed in close proximity thereto. I am now ready to apply my invention to stores, dwellings, facteries, ships, steamboats, railroad cars, &c., wherever pipes as conductors are made dangerous by being overheated and security desired. I will sell, on application, rights to manufacture or to use the above invention; also, territorial rights, to such as may wish to engage in selling privileges, either by State or county.

FOURTH LIST.

The Court are now engaged upon the fourth list, and their decision will be announced shortly—probably this week.

Coroner's Inquest in Birmingham.

Bernhard Rauenbuchler, a German, who boarded at the house of John Stoft, corner of Grosvenor and Washington streets, Birmingham, left the house Wednesday morning to come to the city and visit a brother whom he has living on this side of the river. At about one o'clock in the afternoon he stopped at the Duquesne House, corner of First and Smithfield streets, kept by August Marks, with whom he was acquainted. After remaining a short time he went out, but returned at about three, looking very pale and ill. The proprietor questioned him as to his illness, but he would say nothing except that he did not feel quite well. Shortly before five o'clock Mr. Marks went out, leaving him sitting in the bar room, and on returning a little while afterwards found him lying on the floor in the hall. The sick man would say nothing, except that he "felt so bad." He was placed in bed and remained there until about eight o'clock, when, at his request, he was removed to his boarding house in a carriage. He was placed in his bed, and about ten o'clock Mr. Stoft left him, apparently asleep. At about five o'clock yesterday morning he visited the room and found the man dead in his bed. Coroner Clawson was notified and held an inquest on the body. Dr. J. H. Roberts was called and gave it as his opinion that death resulted from heart disease, and the jury returned a verdict in accordance with this opinion. Deceased was a native of Baden, and was about forty-two years of age. He was a glass blower in one of the glass houses in Birmingham. He has a wife and five children living at Ravenna, Ohio. He was a member of the order of Red Men and of the Druids.

A Soldier Dead.

Charles Barker, who served in the army of the Union during the Southern rebellion, died at the residence of his mother, Point Breeze, East Liberty, on Wednesday, after a lingering illness. His age was twenty-five years. He enlisted in Colonel Bayne's (136th Pa.) Regiment, and remained with it until his term expired, and re-entered the service in Colonel Gallupe's 5th Heavy Artillery, with which he served until the close of the war. His late comrades-in-arms, and also a large circle of other acquaintances, will hear of his demise with sincere regret, and sympathize with his widowed mother and other relations in their bereavement. He was a young man of excellent qualities, warm-hearted, generous to a fault, and in his associations made many warm and steadfast friends. The funeral will take place this A. M. at eleven o'clock.

Commission Expired.—August Ammon's commission, as Justice of the Peace in East Birmingham, expired the 14th inst., and not having been re-commissioned, although re-elected, he is not transacting any business. He will doubtless receive his commission in a few days.

THE COURTS.

United States District Court—Judge McCandless.

District Attorney Carnahan filed a libel against thirty-two barrels of distilled spirits, owned and claimed by Robert C. Lyons. A monition was issued and made returnable on the 28th inst.

A petition signed by T. F. Straub and David Sankey was presented, in which petitioners asked the Court to adjudge them as intormers in the case of the forfeiture of the distillery of John Deer, in order that they might secure the portion of the proceeds of the said forfeiture. The Court granted a rule on the United States District Attorney to show cause why the prayer of the petitioners should not be granted, and the matter was referred to Commissioner H. O. Gamble to take testimony.

In the bankruptcy branch final discharges were granted and certificates awarded to George Asher, of Tioga county, and Lewis S. Waters, of Luzerne county.

Washington Britton, of Allegheny, was adjudged a bankrupt, upon petition of Geo. Rhoads, of Jefferson county, having failed to make answer to the rule to show cause granted some time since.

James M. Kirby, of Allegheny, filed a petition for final discharge. The usual orders were made.

Petitions for adjudication in bankruptcy were filed by James B. Welty, Greensburg, and Jos. Zimmerman of Blair county.

District Court—Judge Hampton.

The case of Wallace vs. the administrator of David Sproull, deceased, previously reported, was concluded. Jury out.

The next case taken up was that of Geo. G. McGrew vs. Wm. Clayton. This was an action to recover damages for injuries sustained by closing up or obstructing a road leading from the Perrysville plank road to plaintiff's property, adjoining the Observatory in Allegheny. On trial.

Common Pleas—Judge Sterrett.

In the case of Dickinson vs. Mulholland and Edmunds, the jury found for the plaintiff in the sum of $94.68.

The case of V. B. McGahan vs. James T. Sample, was next taken up. This was an action to recover for work and labor done. Jury out.

Peter and William Sprague vs. Robert McClaren and John F. McCombs et ux. This was an action in ejectment for a piece of ground in Liberty township, Allegheny county. On trial.

Quarter Sessions—Judge Mellon.

The case of Wm. McLaughlin, John Robinson and John Merritt, indicted for assault and battery on officer O'Brien, was concluded, but no verdict rendered up to adjournment.

A Mistake—Tickets on the Wrong Road.

William H. Fulton arrived in the city Wednesday evening with his wife en route for the west, and soon after his arrival went to the ticket office of the Pittsburgh, Columbus & Cincinnati Railroad, where he purchased tickets for himself and wife to Freeport, for which he paid $33 77. Subsequently he discovered that some friends who were accompanying him had purchased tickets on the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago Railway. He then returned to where he had purchased his tickets and stated that he did not wish to go by that route, that he wanted tickets by way of the Fort Wayne & Chicago Railway, and demanded a return of the money he had paid. Mr. Harvy Watterson, the agent, informed him that they did not do business in that way, and refused to return the money. He then repaired to the Mayor's office and made information charging Watterson with obtaining money under false pretence. Watterson was arrested and gave bail for a hearing, which took place yesterday, when the prosecutor was represented by Sol. Schoyer, Esq., and John H. Hampton, Esq., appeared for the defense. Several witnesses were examined, but the Mayor failed to discover any "false pretense" in the case and consequently discharged the accused. The defence alleges, although it did not appear in evidence, that the prosecution was a malicious one, and was instigated by attaches of the Fort Wayne Company, as they are a competing route and extremely jealous of the other.

Preliminary Injunction Granted.

In the Court of Common Pleas yesterday J. P. Penny, Esq., presented a petition signed by J. E. Hovey and Lewis Haney, residents of McKeesport, asking for a preliminary injunction restraining the borough authorities of McKeesport and P. R. Howley, contractor, from proceeding with the grading and paving of that portion of Market street, in the borough, lying between the north side of Sixth street and the Monongahela wharf. The bill sets forth that the petitioners are owners of property abutting on the street, and that although the borough authorities have ordered the grading and paving of the street, and that contractor Howley is proceeding under that authority, yet the action of the Council was taken contrary to the provisions of the act of Assembly, the property holders thereon not having petitioned for the same, and a majority being opposed to it. Judge Sterrett, on motion of Mr. Penney, granted a preliminary injunction, and fixed Tuesday next, for a hearing in the case. The complainants were required to give bond, approved by the Court, in the sum of three hundred dollars.

Serious Accident.

Wednesday afternoon an accident occurred at the junction of Ohio and Federal streets, by which Mr. Thomas Simpson was seriously injured. Mr. S. was a passenger on car No. 43 on the Troy Hill line of street cars, and attempted to get off as the car was turning the corner at Ohio and Federal streets. The conductor warned him not to get off there as another car was approaching. He did not heed the conductor, or failed to hear him, and jumped off at the left side of the car. Just at that time car No. 40 came around the curve, and before the horses could be checked the tongue of the car struck him on the left side and knocked him down under the horses' feet, breaking one of his ribs. The car was immediately stopped, and Mr. Simpson was extricated without further injury. He was assisted into the Mayor's private office, where he was attended by a physician. The injured man resides at Millerstown.

Painful Accident—Hand Amputated.

An accident occurred at the Manchester wharf, Tuesday afternoon, by which Mr. John Cornelius had his right hand so badly injured as to render amputation necessary. Mr. Cornelius was in the employ of Ed. Wilkins, coal merchant, and at the time of the accident was tying up a boat, when his right hand was caught in the "hitch" of the cable and terribly crushed and mangled. Dr. Harrah, of Manchester, was summoned, and found the hand so terribly injured as to require amputation, which he did immediately. The injured man is improving rapidly under Dr. Harrah's careful attention.

The Streets.—Notwithstanding recent rains, the streets are in a much better condition than they were this time last year. The Street Commissioners have been unusually active and energetic since the opening of spring, and an immense amount of work has been accomplished by them. Most of the streets have been cleaned, and a number of them have been repaired. The result of the work is very apparent to all who are necessitated to travel over the city. It is their intention, we are informed, to thoroughly repair the streets in the city during the coming summer. Fifth street is an exception to the rule.

WASHINGTON, PA.

Destructive Conflagration—Nearly a Whole Square in Ruins—Loss Estimated at $25,000.

We are advised by mail of a very disastrous fire which occurred Wednesday morning at about half-past three o'clock, in the thriving Borough of Washington, Pa., by which nearly a whole square of buildings was reduced to ashes and a loss approximating twenty-five thousand dollars sustained. The fire was first discovered issuing from the rear second story window of the house occupied as a law office by Isaac T. Hamilton, Esq., on Main street. The alarm was promptly given and in a few minutes a large number of citizens assembled, and organizing into a bucket brigade, worked zealously to subdue the flames, with but little effect, as the fire made rapid headway, and communicated to the adjoining buildings. The citizens then turned their atteution to saving the extensive Mansion House stables in order to prevent the flames from reaching the back streets, where, had it extended, half the town would have been at the mercy of the devouring element. This they successfully accomplished, but the fire was conquered only when the fuel was exhausted. The Mansion House, a large two story double brick building, was reduced to ashes and the entire furniture destroyed. The two-story frame building, occupied by Mountz & Decker, was reduced to ashes, and the personal effects and furniture of Mr. J. S. Mountz, who occupied the upper portion of the house, were not saved. The tobacco establishment of David and John Flender was entirely burned, and but little of the stock saved. The saddlery house of John McKay & Co. was destroyed, but most of the stock saved. The house of William Howe was slightly injured. The property destroyed all belonged to the heirs of John N. Dagg, who will sustain a loss approximating $22,000, on which they have an insurance of $6,000. The loss of Mr. George Kirk, the proprietor of the Mansion House, will reach $2,000; partly insured. Messrs. Flender sustained a loss of $700; Mountz & Decker $1,000; J. S. Mountz $400. We regret that the Mansion House was destroyed, as it was one of the best managed hotels outside of a city in this section of the State.

Changes in the Police Force—Seventeen Men Appointed and Twelve Discharged.

The Police Committee, in conjunction with the Mayor and Chief of Police, held a meeting last night for the purpose of reorganizing the police force. The following changes were made:

Substitutes.—Andrew Cronin and Michael Brennan.

Discharged from the regular force.—Daniel Madden, Thomas Hamilton, William Keenis, George Towers, Patrick Hollywood, John Gillitan, Dennis Kirby, George Murray, Peter Mullin, Joseph Busha and James Pillows.

Mitchell's Elements of Physical Geography.

We are debtors to the publishers, Messrs. Butler & Co., of Philadelphia, for a copy of the "Fifth Book of their Series of Geographies," entitled "Elements of Physical Geography," adapted for schools of every grade. The right of Physical Geography to a prominent place among the studies in our schools, from the lowest to the highest, and its importance as a constituent part of the science of Geography has come to be appreciated by the best educators of our country. The work before us is an admirable text book, abounding in beautiful illustrations of the physical phenomena of the world and with ample letter press details, useful in the family, the counting-room, and above all in the schools, academies and colleges of the country. For sale at most of the book stores.

Two Grand Concerts,

As per advertisement, will be given by Prof. Tetedoux on the 23d and 24th instant. Rossini's splendid work, "The Stabat Mater," will be performed by a chorus of over fifty good voices and an orchestra of twenty-five pieces, Mme de Lussan taking the part of the first Soprano. Mme de Lussan comes to us highly recommended by the eastern press. To the energy and enterprise of Prof. Tetedoux we shall owe the pleasure of hearing her on two consecutive evenings. The second concert, composed of various selections, will offer a full scope to the versatility of her talent. We need not say that the other singers, selected from the best pupils of Prof. T., will greatly contribute to the brilliancy of the concerts.

Frederick Douglass.

The lecture of this truly eloquent and powerful orator upon "Republicanism and the One-man Power," last evening in Lafayette Hall, was one of the ablest discourses upon politics in the higher sense of the term ever delivered in this city. He was listened to with close attention by a crowded audience, and very frequently had to pause till the irrepressible applause of his pleased auditors subsided. We pretend not to give the substance of his address, and shall only say that he gave to those who heard him much to carry home and think upon. Douglass does not deal in froth and fustian, but in thoughts which often come with the weight and compact of solid shot.

City Mortality.

Dr. A. G. McCandless, Physician of the Board of Health, reports the following interments in the City of Pittsburgh, from April 5, to April 12, 1868:

Aggravated Assault and Battery.—Michael Barrmettler, made information before the Mayor yesterday, charging Henry Harrington with aggravated assault and battery. Harrington is employed at the establishment of "Cheap John" on Smithfield street, where it appears the prosecutor went for the purpose of purchasing a pair of pants. He made the purchase and when he came to pay for them some difficulty arose as to the price, whereupon he refused to take them. The defendant ne alleges then struck at him with a knife or some other sharp instrument, severing a portion of the left ear. Harrington was held to bail for court.

Fire.—Yesterday morning about six o'clock a fire occurred in a sand house on Water street, near the Pittsburgh & Connellsville Railroad Depot. The alarm was given from Box 16, Duquesne Engine House, and the firemen responded promptly, but owing to the necessary delay in giving the alarm, occasioned by the remoteness of any alarm box from that locality, the building was entirely consumed. The loss is estimated at $600.

Surety of the Peace.—David Robertson yesterday made information before Alderman Humbert against Moses Bennington, for surety of the peace. He alleges that Bennington threatened to shoot him. He was arrested and held to bail to answer at Court.

POLITICAL.

MESSRS. EDITORS GAZETTE:—Why is it that Allegheny county cannot be as ably represented in Congress in the future as she has been in the past? Certainly the great iron interest has or should have influence enough to nominate a first class man—not a man that bullyrags the people year after year for a nomination, but a man that is not wanting it, or expecting any such honors. It is a position only worthy to be given to those who do not ask for it—the place should seek the man and not the man the place. It should not be given to a mere partizan. but one who has not only been true to his party, but one who is high toned and honorable in all the relations of life.

Why cannot Allegheny county nominate such a man as Major William Frew or C. G. Hussey? Such men have too much dignity to ask for such an honor, and therefore the only sort deserving of it, and certainly either would be a credit and an honor to the county.

Ye men of the Republican party, go to work, and see to it that none but honorable and high-toned men are nominated.

MANY VOTERS.

Lawrenceville, April 15, 1868.

EDITORS OF GAZETTE—Sirs: As you have permitted others to suggest the names of candidates for office who will not themselves seek it, but whom the people might wisely select for important public trusts, permit me, without intending to disparage the present incumbent or any aspirant for the State Senate, to suggest the name of Mr. Robert H. Davis, of Allegheny City, as a gentleman whose well known and high toned moral integrity, fine administrative abilities and untiring industry and zeal in rightly and systematically managing every public trust confided to him, whose acquaintance with the manufacturing, commercial, educational, social and elemosinary interests of Allegheny county is unsurpassed, and who, above all, would shrink from the very idea of corruption in legislation, point him out as peculiarly qualified for an able and faithful Senator, than whom a better or safer cannot be selected among all the people. NORTH SIDE.

We have received the following communication, addressed by a very respectable gentleman who is under treatment at Dixmont Hospital, to a well-known citizen of this city:

"You will please use your influence in order that General Grant may get the nomination for President at the Republican Conventian in the city of Chicago. Once nominated, his election in autumn is certain. General Grant was one of the principal agents in the hands of Providence that brought the late unhappy war to a close, while, at the same time, no man living has a better knowledge of the plan of reconstruction. Slavery was a shadow which had a bad effect on your southern brethren; it was the knot around which clung all the ills that flesh is heir to, and would, in the course of time, have prostrated all the dearest interests of the South. In the late war the United States had the right of domain over the southern States, (this right was paramount and above all others), while the South had the moral force of the world against them. With General Grant as President, the southern States shall be reconstructed in a proper manner; new life and new energy shall be infused throughout the South. No shadow shall have a blighting effect, but like the sun, free to all, the South shall be a united and prosperous people. United to the North by the dearest ties of life, she shall enjoy a glorious future."

Cancers.

All Cancers of forty year's standing cured by the use of three one dollar and five $8 bottles of Wolcott's Pain Paint. It has no color, leaves no stain or smart. 25c., 50c, $1, $3, $5, $8. a bottle. The large bottles are necessary in all chronic complaints; don't try to make a half ounce of Paint do what requires a quart. The Pain Paint, properly used, will permanently heal Cancers, Scrofulus Sores, Eruptions in the Skin and Rheumatism.

Tested free at No. 116 Smithfield street, relieves pain instantly.

Archibald Blakely, Esq.—It will be seen by our advertising columns that this gentleman has opened a law office at No. 98 Fifth street. Mr. Blakely brings with him a reputation for fine legal attainments and abilities, and a high character for moral worth. He will be an entirely trustworthy attorney or agent, to whom cases or agencies, however important, may be safely confided. Such men are an acquisition to any bar, and have generally been rewarded by a liberal patronage here. We trust Mr. Blakeley will find no reason to regret his settlement among us.

Try Trix.—Take time to try Trix.
Remember a foul breath is a mark of ill breeding.
In Trix you have a remedy for it.
X'cellent doctors commend Trix.
Trix purifies the breath, strengthens the throat, clears the voice and is a splendid perfume. Try Trix. All druggists sell Trix. Wholesale agents for Trix, B. L. Fahnestock & Co., George A. Kelly & Co., Reymer & Bros., Pittsburgh; R. A. Snodgrass, Allegheny.

Seventh Street.—Taking into consideration the condition of Seventh street and the amount of travel upon it, it has cost more money since it was first paved than any street in the city. It costs annually from three to five hundred dollars to remove the ice from the gutters and sidewalks on Seventh street, from Smithfield to Webster. There is a continual flow of water which has to pass over the surface from Webster to Smithfield, and it can only be remedied by a sewer.

Alleged Nuisance.—James Tibby made information before the Mayor, yesterday, charging William Smith with maintaining a common nuisance. Smith is proprietor of the National Pipe Works, at Carroll and Smallman street, in the Ninth ward, and it is alleged by the informant that he blocks up the street on both sides with his pipes, to the great annoyance of the public generally, and the prosecutor in particular. A warrant was issued.

It is certain that the name and fame the Weed Sewing Machine has earned cannot be impeached. It has always stood the test.
It is a settled opinion that the Weed is driving other machines that were considered first class machines from the market.
By paying a visit to the office of the Agent for the Weed Sewing Machine, Mr. R. H. Long, No. 112 Grant street, any and every one can see for themselves, and can be accommodated as to price and terms.

Slight Fire.—A slight fire occurred Wednesday evening in the furniture store of William Simmerock, Carson street, East Birmingham. The alarm was given, and the fire department of the south side responded promptly, but their services were not required, as the flames were extinguished by the timely application of a few buckets of water. The damage was very slight.

Caught His Man.—Officer Herron, who went to New York in search of Charles Moritzson, the absconder, of whom we published an accouut a few days since, found his man at two o'clock p. m., yesterday. Mayor Blackmore telegraphed for a requisition, and it is probable the officer will return with Moritzson in a few days.

Larceny.—Casper Graff, of Birmingham, was arrested yesterday, on a charge of larceny, on oath of Franz Libler, before Justice Saulsbury. The deponent alleges that Graff took from his shop a saw and hatchet. After a hearing he was committed to jail in defalt of bail, for his appearance at Court.

It is highly creditable to the Iron City that we also excel in the manufacture of trunks, carpet sacks, valises and satchels, as is amply evidenced by a call at the Premium trunk factory of our fair dealing friend, Mr. Joseph Liebler, No. 104 Wood street. His stock is large and superb, while his prices are extremely low and inducing.

The Trunks and articles in that line manufactured by Joseph Liebler, No. 104 Wood street, are the very best offered in the market, and will prove durable and satisfactory to purchasers, while the prices at which sold are most reasonable.

CITY ITEMS.

"The Sweetest Thing in Life" is good health and good spirits, and if you have them not, the next best thing is what will restore bloom to the faded cheek and happiness to the drooping heart. The great and sure remedy is Plantation Bitters, which our physicians recommend to both male and femaie patients, as a safe, reliable, agreeable and cordial stimulant. They contain nothing to disagree with the most delicate constitution, and have won golden opinions from all who have tried them; and probably no article was ever tried by so many persons. They elevate the depressed and give strength to the weak.

MAGNOLIA WATER.—A delightful toilet article—superior to Cologne, and at half the price. MWF&F

Patent Force Pump.—T. T. Ewens, practical plumber, No. 165 Wood street, has in store a most admirable force pump for garden purposes. It is constructed on the most modern principles and throws a strong, steady stream of water a greater distance and with more volume than any other in use. It is a patent pump and will commend itself to all. It comes cheap and will prove durable. Orders by mail will be promptly attended to, and experienced workmen will be sent to any point to put them down.
